

WINTER QUARTERS ORDERED AT PALO DURO

HIGHWAY MUDDLE STILL HOLDS UP WORK

RELIEF BODY BALKS ON THE HIWAY WORK

Will Not Turn Funds Over to Highway Department

APPEAL PRESIDENT

Jones Astonished at the Latest Development in Muddle

More trouble developed yesterday on the highway project from Canyon to the Palo Duro Park when the Relief Commission refused to turn funds over to the Highway Commission for road purposes.

Congressman Marvin Jones received word yesterday of the difficulty, and expressed astonishment at the latest move on the part of the Relief Commission. He states that a definite agreement was reached last week regarding the relief measure for the 17 drouth stricken Panhandle counties. It was upon his presentation that the relief money for highway purposes was approved, and that the President signed the order on last Wednesday. Mr. Jones reported the circumstances were thoroughly understood by all departments, and that work would be rushed in the Panhandle. He was unable to explain the change which had taken place in the attitude of the Relief Commission.

It is hoped that the muddle will be straightened out before the end of this week.

In the meantime, County Engineer E. H. Gohmert is working as many men as the local Relief Committee is able to furnish him under the strict rules laid down from Washington. Several RFC men from Amarillo have been on the job daily. Progress is being made on the highway to the Palo Duro, but not so great as Mr. Gohmert would like to see.

Caliche beds have been located and are ready for work just as soon as orders are received to open up the work in full swing. Mr. Gohmert stated this morning that all of his plans were made to top the present road to the Palo Duro with caliche and then widen the grade as work progressed. He is anxious to provide a hard surfaced road to the camps, and will do so in a very short period of time if given authority to put men to work.

The reception has been arranged by the P. T. A. committee on hospitality. The chairman of the committee is Mrs. A. L. Walsh, and other patrons who serve on the committee are Mrs. Mack Stewart and Mrs. Joe Black.

Bufs Leave For Game in Oklahoma

Team Promises to Continue On Winning Program

Twenty-three Buffaloes left this morning at 5:00 o'clock for Ada, Okla., where they will play the East Central Teachers College at 3:00 o'clock Friday afternoon. The team will arrive this afternoon in time for a light work-out on the grounds where the game will be played.

The Bufs are in quest of their second victory of the season and if spirit means anything, they will not be stopped. The offense which started clicking for the first time this season in the game Friday against McMurray will be strengthened by the return of Captain Cow Williams to the line up. The line will, however, feel the absence of Cagle Teague, all TIAA guard of last year, who received a serious head injury last Friday night. He received another lick on the head Monday afternoon while hitting the tackling dummy, and will probably be unable to play although he will make the trip. Herschel Hamel of Childress, will probably start at Teague's guard.

The East Central team will present an experienced team with two men who are playing their fourth year, one man who is playing his third year, three, two year men, and five, one-year men. The team lost a game last Saturday, 20 to 0, to Southwestern State Teachers College of Weatherford, Oklahoma, a team which beat the Buffaloes 27 to 6 a month ago. However, the Buffaloes are a vastly different team from the one which was defeated at Weatherford in their first game of the season and go into this game expecting to win.

W. P. Martin Dies Tuesday Following a Short Illness

William Payne Martin died in Amarillo Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock following an illness of only a few days. He was not considered seriously ill until attacked with heart trouble.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the First Christian Church conducted by Rev. E. S. McKinney of Amarillo. Interment followed at the Dreamland Cemetery.

Mr. Martin was born at Smithville, Tenn., on June 20, 1869, and had reached the age of 64 years at the time of his death. He has been a citizen of Canyon for 13 years, being the owner of a service station at the time of his death. He was a member of the Christian Church and of the Masonic lodge.

Surviving are the wife, Mrs. Lennie Martin; two daughters, Mrs. E. W. Williams of Post, and Mrs. Herman Shultz of Hereford; two sons, Joe Martin of Amarillo and Spurlin Martin of Kenna, New Mexico.

Community Chest to Ask Donations For Purchase of Shoes

The most urgent need of the Community Chest at this time is for shoes, stated Mrs. H. O. Price yesterday. The usual call for clothing donations will not be made this year, according to a decision reached by the City Federation, but the citizens of Canyon will be asked for donations to buy shoes for the many needy in the city and county.

A committee of women interested in the Community Chest will make a canvass of the city next week seeking funds for shoes. Many children are in need of shoes immediately and others must be cared for as the winter advances. Mrs. Price was named by Mrs. T. H. Knighton, president of the City Federation, to head the Community Chest for the coming year.

$8,800 For City Water Extension Looks Possible

Application for $8,800 to extend the water mains in Canyon has been submitted to the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works committee at Fort Worth. A letter received yesterday by Harvey Cash, city secretary, indicates that the application is in good shape, and will be acted upon very soon. The application was handled through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and it is believed that approval will soon be received.

Work was started on making application for a hospital at Canyon. It will take several days to assemble all of the data and get the application in shape. Walter Cline, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, recently approved the idea of Canyon seeking such a loan, and believed that application for funds would be approved.

Through the Public Works committee the government gives 30 per cent of all loans to the communities.

$5,207 in Cotton Checks Received Here Yesterday

Cotton checks were received in Randall county yesterday.

Twenty-four farmers will receive $5,207 in Uncle Sam's plow up campaign of cotton, and ten more checks are expected within a few days.

The checks were received yesterday morning by County Agent W. H. Upchurch and will be turned over to the farmers. Randall county was attached to Swisher county for administrative purposes owing to the small number of cotton farmers in the county. Practically all of the checks will go to farmers living in the south part of the county.

Second Load of Fish Brought to Creeks of County

L. A. Proctor of Dundee, deputy in the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster department, was here Thursday with a load of fish which was distributed to citizens who have creeks and lakes on their places. Applications were taken last spring by the Chamber of Commerce for fish to stock the waters of the county.

Mr. Proctor was here two weeks ago with the first load, part of which was taken to Deaf Smith county. On Thursday he had 44 cans of fish. In the two truck loads were about 10,000 fish, which was the finest ever distributed by the department.

S. H. Condon, director of the Chamber of Commerce, assisted in the distribution of the fish. He was highly pleased with the fine fish sent, and predicts good fishing in Randall county during the coming years.

Jeff Fowler Sends Out Bid to Ex-Service Men

Ex-service men of Randall county will be entertained Friday night at the American Legion Hall in a novelty program which promises to be one of the most interesting given in a number of years.

Post Adjutant J. B. Fowler has addressed the ex-service men in the following communication:

An ex-service men's rally has been planned for every veteran in Randall county at the American Legion Hall, Friday evening, Oct. 20, at 8:00 o'clock. You and your wife are especially invited. If you haven't a wife, and can't make arrangements for one by Friday evening, come anyway.

Please don't disappoint us as we are making extensive preparation for your entertainment. We feel that the ex-service men of this community should become better acquainted. We feel that we should be in a position to help each other in these trying times, and at the same time be of service to the community.

We have arranged for some of the best talent in the community to help entertain you. The Canyon high school orchestra will furnish music for the program. The first number on the program is a welcome address by Commander Guy Harp. If you enjoy a good oration, don't miss this rousing speech by our new commander, Prof. S. H. (Continued on last page)

District Governor Highly Pleased at Rotary Progress

District Governor O. B. Sellers visited the Canyon Rotary Club Tuesday and expressed great appreciation of the progress shown by President Sylvester Ingham and his executive board. Governor Sellers called attention to the prediction of three years ago by critics that service clubs would cease to function when the depression hit. While fraternal orders were ceasing to exist and were losing members in large numbers, Rotary shows a gain of 100 new clubs, and with a net loss of less than 7% in membership from the peak times of 1929-1930. Business men have found that there is something else in life than financial gains. The six objectives of Rotary with its Code of Ethics appeal to men who have the welfare of others at heart.

In the world changes, Rotary presents an opportunity for service. The 147,000 members in the 67 nations are working with one idea and one ideal. Never before has the world needed men of hope, vision and faith as it does today; men who are willing to help solve the serious difficulties.

Dr. Marvin Sadoris was given a vote of thanks for making individual place cards for Rotarians.

Visitors present Tuesday were Dr. Rue Parcells, Hugh Flynn, Harvey Adams, N. S. Griggs, W. A. McIntosh, Bill Lampe, F. A. Zimpfer, Tom Gallaher, Guy Callander, C. L. Landers, Dr. C. W. Little, W. C. Gary and Jim Florey, all of Amarillo.

Drive Started to Abolish Defective Automobile Lights

A warning is issued to motorists and car owners of Canyon and Randall county who are operating their cars with defective lights, that local officers with the assistance of the State Highway patrolmen will begin a campaign this week-end to have all drivers comply with the laws in regard to proper lights on their cars.

Motorists who have defective car lights, will be stopped and requested by the officers to have same remedied. A second request to the same driver will result in a fine. Lately numerous complaints have been registered with local authorities concerning the large number of drivers who have been operating their automobiles and trucks in and around Canyon with only one headlight, and in many cases with only one headlight and no tail light.

Major Watson Receives Definite Orders on Camp

Work will continue through the winter at the Palo Duro State Park according to definite instructions received Friday afternoon from the army by Major J. A. Watson. The three companies will be continued and the fourth company will be sent here about the first of December.

Major Watson has received authority to call for bids on materials necessary to construct barracks for winter quarters and to equip the water system and other facilities of the camp for stay during the winter months.

The national park service approved the plan for winter work several weeks ago, but it was not until Friday that definite orders were received from the army for the continuation of the work.

Specifications for materials were placed in the hands of local dealers Tuesday and bids will be opened Friday for the necessary building materials to erect the barracks.

Local labor will be employed for the construction work at the uniform rates prescribed by NRA. J. H. Hankley of San Antonio will superintend all of the construction work. It is estimated that at least 60 carpenters and 20 helpers will be employed on the construction for about one month. Other skilled mechanics will be needed at various times during the period of construction.

Five barracks for each of the three companies will be erected at once, and another set of five will probably be authorized for the fourth company which is expected by the first of December. It will require about 250,000 feet of lumber. Forty men will be housed in each of the buildings. Major Watson has designated a site to the west of Co. 1824 for the new company when it arrives here.

A new recreation hall 40x110 feet is also contemplated in the construction. This would be adequate for all of the entertainments (Continued on last page)

$75,000 Loans Are Approved by Land Bank in the County

The Federal Land Bank has on a special force of eighteen appraisers for the purpose of completing applications which have been made for loans in Randall county. The force has been working in various Panhandle counties taking care of applications which have been filed for some time.

G. G. Foster, local representative of the Bank, states that the approvals have been very liberal. Thirty applications for $75,000 have been approved.

There are about 70 more applications for loans, and the appraisers will complete their work this week.

Wheat Committee Is Making Check Upon Acres in the County

Faced with the difficulty of 15% over the amount allowable, Randall county wheat allotment committees are making a careful check upon the actual acreage of the 720 farmers who have applied to come under the allotment plan. Community committees were sent back with instructions to have all fields carefully measured in order to obtain the exact acreage. It is hoped that much of the excess will be eliminated under this plan. However, if the acreage cannot be reduced by this plan, reductions in the allowable will be resorted to by the allotment committee.

Criticism of army officers at the Palo Duro Park published in the Amarillo Globe and News last Friday and Saturday did not set well with officers at the camp, so the report comes. The criticism is termed unjust and unwarranted. The idea of the Civilians Conservation Corps is not military in any respect. The army does not attempt military discipline over the men, except to see that they behave as law abiding citizens should. The army was the only governmental organization capable of taking charge of these camps, seeing that they were properly built, and to see that the men were taken care of, so far as housing, clothing and feeding are concerned. The C. C. C. men are not engaged in war, except in the sense of being at war on the depression. All of them saw service for their country during the world war. They are no longer the young men who went overseas, but all have reached maturity, and have families who are depending upon them. The army wishes to see that the physical fitness of the men is maintained, and that they shall be returned to their families stronger physically than when they enlisted for this service. If warfare existed, the army would not be so particular, perhaps, knowing that there must be bloodshed and lives sacrificed for the defense or preservation of the nation. Suffering and privation is a part of warfare. These men have been through all this. Now all they ask is a chance to make a living for themselves and those depending upon them. At best, they are not living under homelike conditions, or maintaining the standards of living which they would like for themselves and their families. But they feel that in building the Palo Duro Park they are doing as noble a work for their nation as they did in fighting overseas in defense of their nation. The army officers have these men in their charge; they are ambitious to give them the very best that is possible; to do this there must be transportation facilities in order that the men may be properly clothed, fed and sheltered. The road to the Palo Duro has been in a muddle ever since the men moved to the camp in July. Randall county officials have done everything they could to impress upon highway officials the necessity of action right now, rather than next month or next year. Too many bosses are trying to run the project. The Relief Commission insists on furnishing the men, while the highway department does the work. Special drouth relief has been postponed and changed until no one knows what to expect. The federal government ordered all red tape cut out and work started, but then imposed more red tape and stricter regulations than ever before. The army has been promised time and again that the road would be built at once, but no action resulted. A few men were employed whereas the job demanded several hundred. The army saw that it would take years under this method of construction. The word went out that unless the road was built there would be no work at the park during the winter. The army officers were not thinking of themselves, but of the 800 citizens of Texas, all ex-service men with families, when they demanded something tangible in the way of an adequate road. Building the road is the big job, and everyone hopes that it will get underway this week, and be rushed to completion. The men at the Palo Duro Park are out there to build a state and national park which will be a joy and pleasure to this and coming generations, rather than to push trucks this winter out of mud holes which could be eliminated by rushing the highway to completion.

The relief measure passed by the legislature is very much in opposition to the will of Governor Ferguson, but she has signed the bill rather than call another session of the legislature. The relief work goes out of the Ferguson control. This means the crumbling of the terrific political machine which was being built under the present order of things. With only $5,500,000 in bonds being authorized at this time, another session of the legislature will be necessary before spring, at which time the new commission for the relief money will be called upon for an accounting. The Fergusons wished for all of the $20,000,000 issued, and the present set-up maintained. Less money will be spent for administration, and more will go to those in actual need. The Fergusons lost heavily in this scrimmage with the legislature.

The special session which ended Saturday morning has developed the fact that Governor Ferguson will seek re-election and will be opposed by Senator Clint Small of this district. Small made the race four years ago, surprising the state by running a good third with eight candidates in the field. There will probably be eight or ten in the race, and at this time, Senator Small looms as the most outstanding of those being groomed.

Just what effect the withdrawal of Germany from the League of Nations will have, no one yet professes to know. Hitler's speech caused dismay on the part of those hopeful for a reduction of national armaments. If Germany as a nation is sold on Hitler, the world is in grave danger, and another war may result. It is suspected that Germany is merely enduring Hitler until some real leader is developed.

Proof that there has been plenty of job selling in Texas during the past few months is being assembled by the investigation committee at Austin. As a result of this exposure, and the method of handling the relief money, the Fergusons feel that they must again be vindicated, so Jim will run Ma for re-election. It takes a long while to vindicate the Ferguson name.

The victory of the government in placing Machine Gun Kelly and his wife behind the bars for life should be a fine example to other would-be kidnappers. Texas now has a statute making kidnapping punishable by death. Nearly every other state has followed the example. Of all crimes in the catalogue, kidnapping is certainly one of the worst.

BUFFS DOWN McMURRAY FRIDAY BY SCORE OF 13-6

Maroon and White Kicking Toe Was Working Unusually Well

In a brilliant display of snappy ball toting the West Texas Buffs defeated the McMurray Indians of Abilene Friday night 13-6. The Maroon and White showed good ability at hitting the line and skirting the ends, while the Buff kicking toe was working well. The pass offense was only moderately successful against the Indians.

McMurray's strong team was not good enough for the inspired Bison Herd, who played the entire game without their star and captain, "Cow" Williams.

Morgan made the first score, after an exchange of punts early in the first quarter, by a beautiful 55 yard return of one of McMurray's kicks. McMurray immediately began a long drive for the goal, ending in an incomplete pass over the goal line for a touchback.

In the beginning of the second period, Harless, elusive Indian back, snatched Smith's pass to go over for the Redmen's only counter. It looked like the whole Herd blocked the try for extra point. Martindale's kicking and end runs helped to place the ball in scoring distance near the last of the half, but the Indian line held on the six inch stripe.

During the third period the Herd let the Indians run with the ball, while they depended on Martindale's toe. In the fourth quarter the Buffs began to open up again, and made their second daily after Holston had intercepted an enemy pass and ran to the 12 yard stripe. Some fancy blocking by the whole herd and the line plunging of McInnis put the ball over. Holston missed the goal for the extra point.

The Tribe attempted an aerial attack in a last minute hope, but the Maroon and White would have none of it, knocking most of them down and intercepting one.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salt, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resistant substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Marie Kryl Will Appear With Her Father, Nov. 18

Marie Kryl, brilliant young pianist soloist, who is scheduled to appear here with her father, Bohumir Kryl and his Symphonic Orchestra, on November 18, is said to be the youngest soloist who has appeared with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Frederick Stock at the regular series in Chicago. She has toured with the leading orchestras and always created a sensation.

Miss Kryl has been compared to the lamented Bloomfield Zeisler and Carreno and is always spoken of as an American Beauty.

She has shared honors with the famous Galli-Curci at the Biltmore Morning Musicals in New York, and always astonished her audiences by her unflinching scale playing. "The piano as a musical instrument has no mysteries that this young girl cannot solve," says the St. Louis Globe Democrat after her appearance with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, Rudolph Ganz, conductor.

When his wife deserted him four years ago, Welch, an oil driller, was prevented by the Venezuelan government from bringing his daughter back to the United States. Airplane Driven by Steam

An airplane engine which burns crude oil and derives its power from steam has been developed by two Akron, O., inventors, Erick Beckley and Harold Johnson. Engineers' Dream of Super-Highway to Span U. S. May Soon Come True

A SUPER-HIGHWAY spanning the United States, over which automobiles can travel at a 100-mile-an-hour speed—a project which has been under consideration for two years—looms nearer with the announcement of Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes that public works funds will be used to promote a transcontinental highway.

In his recent speech at the national conference on city planning, held in Baltimore, Secretary Ickes condemned current catch-as-catch-can methods of road development. Work on miscellaneous highways, he promised, henceforth will be conducted with the goal in mind of perfecting a transcontinental road.

Secretary Ickes' announcement fits in perfectly with the plan of a group of American highway engineers, who, for some time, have been planning a super-highway which would permit a motorist to cross the country from coast to coast in a time almost rivaling that of an airplane.

This group has had to consider numerous obstacles.

The engineers claim, however, to have ironed out the bigger ones.

There is, for instance, the question of road surfacing, the ordinary type which hardly would be suitable for high-speed traveling. Fast autos are built almost rigid and must depend on the road for the necessary resiliency. A new, flexible surfacing which absorbs automobile vibration has been developed. It is black in color, non-skid, and unaffected by sun, snow, ice or rain.

The importance of resiliency in a roadbed cannot be underestimated, according to Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world's automobile speed record.

Campbell, a member of the group sponsoring the super-highway, knows whereof he speaks. His brilliant feats of speed have been achieved on the flexible, carpet-like surface of the Daytona Beach sands, which the tides renew twice daily.

THERE is another problem, that of curves. A motorist traveling 100 miles an hour must be able to see a half mile ahead at all times. For this reason, the super-highway must be practically free of curves, its surface as flat and smooth as a tennis court.

The super-highway, it is planned, will contain four lanes, each 20 feet wide and separated by eight-foot gravel strips. Cars in trouble may pull over to these strips. The two outer paved lanes are for slow vehicles, the two center ones for high speed traffic. At an intersection, the high speed lanes will rise and go over the intersecting road, the slow-speed lanes will connect with the customary traffic circle.

TUNNELS must be provided under large cities. Where possible, the highway will skirt small cities, otherwise, the high speed lanes will be depressed to eliminate conflict with local traffic.

Motorists speeding down the high-speed lane need have no fear of crosswise traffic, nor of other autos suddenly entering their lane. There will be no direct entry from any connecting highway into the high-speed lanes.

Autos first must enter the outer lanes, and then take a cross road which runs diagonally 500 feet before it connects with the high speed lane. This gives the driver on the lane a 500-foot knowledge of the entry of another car into his territory.

Signal and semaphore devices further will safeguard the high-speed driver. And, for his convenience, service stations and maintenance garages, fully equipped and manned, will be stationed at a distance of ten miles outside each city, and at points 100 miles apart thereafter.

The engineers plan that night driving on the super-highway shall be even safer than motoring during the day. Imbedded in opal glass walls lining the sides of the highway, and spaced approximately 20 feet apart, will be placed high-powered electric lamps.

These lamps will shine out on the highway in the direction of traffic. Such a scheme would eliminate the danger of overhead illumination on rainy nights. Central guide strips of white glass will lessen the fog hazard.

Dr. A. Debo Has Book Accepted

Book Is To Be Placed In Historical Series

Dr. Angie Debo, former member of the history department of W. T. and at present in charge of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, has received notification that her book, "A History of the Choctaw Nation," has been accepted for publication by the Oklahoma University Press. The book will be placed as one volume in an historical series, "The Civilization of the American Indian," which is being prepared for publication by the Oklahoma press.

The acceptance of the book and the placing of it in such an historical series of note, comes as a signal honor to Dr. Debo. Her book was originally written as the dissertation for her doctor's degree, which she received last year, however, a number of changes were made in it before it was submitted for publication.

Miss Ethel Ruth Collins, who graduated from W. T. in 1932, is doing the professional maps for the volume, and Miss Margaret Camp, another graduate, is in charge of the stenographic work.

CANYON TAKES CONFERENCE GAME FRIDAY FROM FRIONA HIGH SCORE 52 TO NOTHING

The Canyon Eagles opened their drive toward district grid honors last Friday afternoon when they defeated the Friona Chiefs 52-0 in their first conference game of the season.

From the very start it was plain to see that there would be a track meet rather than a football game. The little Friona team was no match for their heavier opponents. Only once did the visitors threaten to score. Coach Jones was quick in stopping this drive by sending the first team back into the game. The first team had been out since early in the fourth period.

Friona's team averaged only 138½ pounds to the man. They were outweighed 20 to 25 pounds to the man. Nevertheless they never gave up.

Sewell Cox, fleet Eagle halfback, led the onslaught by scoring four of the Eagles' touchdowns. Hampton Lisle, substitute halfback accounted for two of the touchdowns with dashes of three and sixteen yards. The longest run of the game was made by Lester Clouch, Eagle quarterback, on the kickoff as the second half opened. Slack took C. Hamblen's kick on his own 20 yard line and on a reverse play passed the ball to Clouch who raced 80 yards for the counter. James Hill accounted for the eighth touchdown early in the fourth quarter. T. V. Slack kicked four times from placement for four extra points.

In picking defense stars, A. Brasuel, D. Gerald, W. Cox, and Elliston stood out for the Eagles, and Schlenker, Garrett and O. Hamblen were defense stars for the Chiefs, while C. Hamblen and Collins were the offensive stars for Friona.

Loyalty Pennant For Freshman Arrives This Week

What a loyal group of freshmen Canyon High School has for 1933-1934! This fall when Mr. Terry announced the loyalty campaign for citizens of Canyon, the freshmen agreed to win the pennant as a reward. They sold ten tickets to parents, friends, and neighbors that were interested in the activities and progress of Canyon High School.

The exquisite pennant, of which the freshmen are very proud, arrived this week. It is made from purple and white felt. There is a strip of purple at the top with the letters "C. H. S." stitched on in white, with a corresponding strip at the bottom bearing the word "Loyalty" in white letters. In the middle is a white strip of felt with the words, "Freshmen-33," in contrasting purple letters.

P.T.A. to Present Negro Minstrel At Early Date

A group of townsmen assisted by the Girls' Glee Club, some men from the Public School faculty, and women from the P. T. A. are working on a negro minstrel to be presented at an early date for the benefit of the P. T. A. This promises to be a very entertaining event for the citizens of Canyon.

High School Certainly Needs Weather Prophet

Can't someone predict a day ahead what the weather will be like? Isn't there an old Tack among the high school students who can tell what to wear the next day? Maybe this is the Panhandle, and it's dangerous to predict the weather, but a prophet is really needed.

This weather question is getting some of the students down: one morning a bright sun will wake them up, and here they come to school in anklets and light dresses and no wraps. By noon it's 90 below, and students go home and change and bring a coat back, only to find that at three o'clock the sun is shining again. Those who shivered all afternoon because they hadn't worn heavier clothes are ready for the sunshine, while those who were ready for the cold weather carry heavy coats home.

Some mornings it's almost freezing when they get up. And the whole school is toggled out in winter finery. When the sun comes out, everybody must endure red flannels through the hot afternoon.

What can be done about it? About half the school is wrong every day. Hadn't the school better get a weather prophet? Only it might be dangerous for him—if he predicted wrong. (To be safe, he might keep a supply of fans, furs, slickers, and umbrellas handy).

Two Girl Scouts Patrols Have Entertainment

The Girl Scouts of the Sage Brush Patrol of the newly organized Sandstorm Troop, met at the home of Marielle Oldham, Oct. 12, at 7:00 o'clock. An oven was placed in the yard and wieners were roasted and served with buns, pickles, cookies and cocoa.

Outdoor games were played until about 9:30 o'clock.

The Cactus Patrol met Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mary Collins. After spending a very delightful evening popping corn and making candy the guests departed about 10:30 o'clock.

TURN OVER A NEW LEAF

Did it ever occur to you to try to make good grades in school? The first six weeks has just passed. How many failed to reach the passing mark? Well, now is the time to turn over a new leaf and begin again. The grades of this period are mostly indications of what the teachers expect each pupil to measure up to.

There is no use crying over spilled milk, but there is not any use either sitting up until the early hours of the morning cramming for these six-weeks exams. If you keep up your assignments all thru the period, you will not have to wait until the last night to cram in order to make an attempt at passing those exams we all seem to dread. If you have started off on the wrong foot, turn over a new leaf and make your C. H. S. record A-1.

Canyon Eagles To Play Happy Jacks Friday

The Canyon Eagles will play their first game on a foreign field Friday, Oct. 20, when they will be the guests of the Happy Jacks in their second conference game. This promises to be one of the closest, hard-fought games of the season. The two teams have always been bitter rivals, and will be fighting their hardest. The Eagles succeeded in beating the Jacks last year 21 to 7.

In order to continue in the race for district honors the Eagles must beat Happy.

Mary Ella Lowe and Sarah Bonnie Bourn spent Saturday night with Lavena Watkins.

Yvonne Thomas was in Amarillo Saturday.

Muriel Pirkle visited in Happy Sunday.

The Student Council, made up of the officers of the school, met for the first time this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Terry.

The object of this meeting was to arrange more interesting and educational activities for every student of the school.

The Council decided to take charge of the report cards as they did last year.

It was also decided to compile a handbook containing all of the needed information about the school. This book is to be distributed to all students next year.

Arrangements for the transportation of students to the Happy-Canyon game were made.

Third Year Home Ec Girls Entertain With Informal Tea

The Home Economics room was the scene of an informal tea Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 10.

The food was prepared by some of the members of the Third Year class, while others prepared the table and room for tea.

Refreshments of spiced iced tea and sandwiches were served by the hostess, Miss Robbie Foster, assisted by Miss Myrtle Wright, to the following: Misses Fannie Sue Brasuel, Mary Ella Lowe, Patricia Wederbrook, Mary Strain, Helen Hardman, Leona Hardman, Bobbie Jo Cheyne, Christine Shackelford, Irene Mullins, Mary Lee West, Geneva Whitman and Dora Mae Plaster.

Freshman Girls Meeting to Discuss Tea Etiquette

Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel, the home economics instructor, called a meeting of the freshman girls Monday afternoon to give them a few instructions on how to act, what to wear, and etiquette in general at formal teas. Since they are going to be entertained with a formal tea by the senior girls Wednesday, Oct. 18, Miss Brasuel thought it would be to their advantage if she dropped them a few hints. The girls asked some questions about things with which they were not familiar.

Seniors Entertain Freshmen With Formal Tea

One of the loveliest affairs of the season was Wednesday afternoon when the seniors entertained the freshmen with a formal tea from four to five-thirty in the Home Economics rooms.

The rooms were decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. A color scheme of brown and yellow was carried out in the refreshments which consisted of tea, sandwiches, sacaroons, and mints.

Robbie Foster acted as hostess and was assisted by Armor Lee Greenfield, Dora Mae Plater, and Laura Fernie Brian.

The Freshmen were received by Patricia Wederbrook, Robbye Foster and Irene Mullins.

Violin and piano music was played throughout the afternoon.

Fire Prevention Theme of Chapel Program Oct. 12

The chapel program, Thursday, October 12, was sponsored by Mr. Frank Hicks, Mr. A. H. Bryant, Mr. Bill Smith, and Mr. T. C. Thompson, each of whom gave a speech on different phases of the subject, Fire prevention.

The first speaker on the program, introduced by Mr. Hicks, fire chief, was Mr. Smith, manager of the West Texas Gas Co., who chose for his topic, "Dangers of fire from gas."

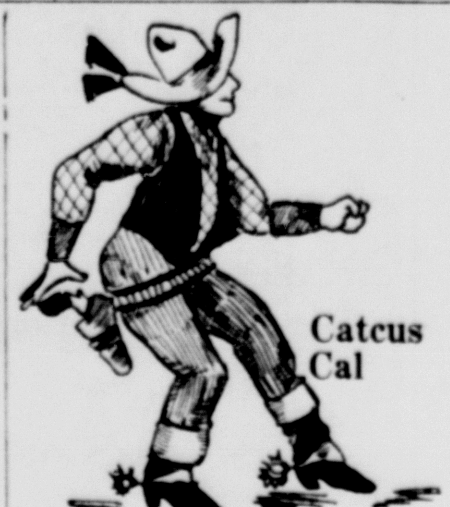

In this interesting talk Mr. Smith discussed briefly various causes of fire through careless use of gas. The causes were, namely, the gas hose; temporary discontinuance of the gas; and carelessness in leaving gas stoves in drafts.

Mr. Bryant, Manager of the Texas Utility Co., also introduced by Mr. Hicks, spoke on the topic, "Dangers of fire from electricity." Mr. Bryant especially stressed the importance of the fuse in electrical appliances. "This small object," he stated, "protects every electrically lighted home from serious fires which might result in death to one or more people." Emphasis was laid upon the danger of substituting any counterfeit for the electrical fuse.

Mr. Thompson, manager of the Thompson Hardware Co., the last speaker on the program, summed up the preceding talks, adding also numerous cautions against that great enemy, fire.

The program was concluded by an interest-creating contest between the students of Canyon High School.

Miss Ethel Murrell was in Amarillo Saturday.

Say! Did you kids ever try givin' anyone flowers before he dies? My mother always said if they couldn't say somethin' good about her before she died that they needn't say anything good at her funeral, cause she wouldn't know what the preacher wuz sayin'. In other words, give flowers or compliments, which ever you wish to call 'em, to the livin'. Them is just my sentiments, when I think of a certain gal up here at school.

She shore caught my eye the other day at school, with that long black hair, and them purty long eyelashes and in that blue dress of hers. If I wuzn't married I'd shore step out with her, not est cause she wuz purty, but because she's got lots of sense, too. Every Monday, about supper time I see her coming down town from school, and stopping at Warwick's Printing Co. A kid up here told me what she did that fer. He said she took the news for the "Eagles Tale" in there to be printed. The next few days I wuz at school, so I just visited her room up on third floor, and did she have people stepping. Why she had thought up all the news of school and wuz givin' it out to kids to write up. I know I ain't very wise, but I hev got enough sense to know thet she shore sum gal. I'd advise sum uv you kids if you like to read the "Eagles Tale" to tell Robbie, (she's the gal I been speakin' uv). It wouldn't be no trouble to tell her yuh like it, and tell her now, don't wait until her judgement day comes and say, "She shore had a nose fer news."

Somethin' you Eagles ought to like her fer, is cause she gives you the biggest writup uv anything whut happens up at school. If I wuz that hole high school I'd shore give her a big hand.

Speakin' uv Eagles, that reminds me. What are you Eagles going to do to them Happy guys when you go down there? If you all don't whip them Happy Jacks, I'm shore gonna lose a lot uv cokes. Uv course you all know that Jacks are stubborn sometimes and hard to move, but everybody's shore depending on you Eagles to bust their line. So fight 'em hard. Beat them Happy Jacks.

What Beautiful Teeth!

"What beautiful teeth?" is a comment heard time and time again, but have you ever stopped to wonder what wakes pearly-white teeth?

More and more, scientists are coming to realize the importance that proper diet plays in building perfect teeth and in preventing tooth decay. Not only is proper diet necessary for the child when teeth are being formed, but also throughout adult life to reduce tooth decay to a minimum.

Phosphorus Important

Proper diet means that the meals should include protein, carbohydrates, fats, minerals, and vitamins, and especially are the minerals and vitamins important to building good teeth and in keeping the teeth in good condition. Calcium and phosphorus are the hardening elements of the teeth, but in order that they are properly utilized, there must be balance between the two and vitamin D must be present.

Since recent investigation seems to indicate that phosphorus plays a much more important part in the normal building of teeth and the prevention of tooth decay than was formerly thought, it is well to know that meat is the very best source of this element among foods.

Students Work At Various Occupations

Did you know that Canyon High School students work? They work at most anything from keeping children to helping in service stations. Some work on Saturdays, some after school, and some after football practice.

For instance, Robbie Foster helps Mrs. Bill Smith, and Nell Slaton helps Mrs. Moses after school each afternoon. On Saturday, if you were to go into the bakery, Bill Cone would probably wait on you. Two C. H. S. boys work in service stations; Carl Prichard works for the Consumers, and Ernest Duncan works for the Gulf Station on the square. Gertrude Brandt works at Dr. Sadoris', and Myrtle Chitwood works for Mrs. Lee Foster. Did you ever go to the picture show and buy a sack of pop-corn? Why certainly you did, and you probably bought it from Chris Wooten. Two boys that like eating places are Edd Brooks and Winters Hair. The former works at Hunt's Grocery on Saturday's, while the latter does his share at the Palace Cafe.

Why do William Whitney and Roland Black look so husky? Did you ever notice the muscles in their arms? Well, they are developed from shining shoes. Roland works at the Palo Duro Barber Shop after football practice and on Saturdays. William works after school at the Star Barber Shop. Joe McDonald seems to be pretty husky, too; he works for his brother in the City Blacksmith Shop, and Boyd Clayton keeps Mrs. Dunaway's lawn looking so nice.

Dairy work seems to take the prize among the boys' occupations. Arthur Lee Chambers and Jack Inman deliver for the Canyon Dairy; Joe Morris delivers for Bourn's Dairy, and you have often seen George Mayfield and Odell Miller delivering milk for Mr. Monroe every afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. We also find two very industrious brothers who work after football practice and on Saturday's in their father's feed store. These two are no other than Hampton and Leslie Lisle.

Mention should also be made of the many hardworking boys who live in the country and have to hurry home after school and after football practice, too, to do those good old timey "daily dozens" or daily chores. Some of these do not live outside the city limits, but that doesn't lessen their home work. Roy and David Phillips, Woodrow and Wilson Hicks, Rubi Rhodes, Sewell and Wesley Cox, Tommy Lair, Lavert Aven, and many others.

C. H. S. wishes for its hardworking students many more progressive years in the work they have to do; may it improve their bodies as it is hoped C. H. S. improves their minds.

Pep Squad Caps Real Problems

Pep Caps! Pep Caps! What a problem they are. No two look alike.

One is too small, another is too large; she can't keep hers on; the girl over there has a brim that is too circular.

This is the present situation concerning the pep caps of the Purple Peps of Canyon High School. Many of the girls are buying caps at Kresses and are happily forgetting the troubles they had in making their caps.

Any suggestions that are offered to the Pep Squad as to caps will be considered and greatly appreciated.

Making History Newspapers Is Real Problem

Miss Murrell says those newspapers on the Revolutionary War are due Monday. If you're not a Junior and you've never made a full-sized newspaper, you simply don't know what a treat it is, especially when you have to date it 1777.

Oh, yes! You can date it August, and put in the Battle of Saratoga, but what else? Since it is a monthly paper, that's the only battle you can include, because they didn't fight more than one battle a month. If you can stretch your imagination far enough, you might say, "Benjamin Franklin, in a recent letter received, seems to feel more encouraged toward French aid," but that can't possibly fill more than one column. Now what!

It can't possibly be N. R. A. signs or large slogans of "We Do Our Part!" Or it can't be that some multimillionaire has been kidnapped by a desperate band of gangsters.

Well, you may have to make a full page of rum advertisements, because the history books say they had lots of rum.

Oldham, Miller, And Jennings Win Contest

The winner of the contest staged in chapel, October 12, were: Mari-elle Oldham, first; Neva Lair Miller, second; and Lena Wade Jennings, third. These students received as awards: a one dollar bill, two tickets to the show, and five custard cups, respectively.

At the conclusion of the talks on fire prevention, every student attending assembly passed by a table upon which were arranged a number of different objects such as: scissors, a match, glue, a tooth brush, etc. The student was asked to look over these articles; then after returning to his seat, write upon a piece of paper as many of those objects as he could remember. To this Mr. Hicks asked the students to add the main points of the speeches of Mr. Smith, Mr. Bryant and Mr. Thompson. The three persons listing the greatest number of articles placed upon the table and the most important parts of the various talks received the three prizes.

Miss Jewel Foster spent the week end visiting relatives.

Eagles Tale First Published in 1926 With Shook Editor

It is found that the Eagles Tale has a very interesting background. The first issue of a paper of Canyon High School was called "Canyon Public School Notes." Different pupils and teachers contributed articles.

The first edition of the Eagles Tale appeared on Oct. 26, 1926. The staff blank was not filled in. A very interesting article was in this copy saying that all pupils interested in paper work to meet in the auditorium. The pupils which met elected the following officers: Roger Shook, editor in chief; Keith Donnell, Charles Strain, Lurline Bowman, Jake Harrison, assistant editors; Irma Hinkle, society; Wyatt Webb, features. A very interesting article that appeared in this edition was on the naming of the paper. One vote decided on Eagles Tale instead of Eagles Eye.

In 1927 the staff was as follows: Keith Donnell, editor in chief; Margaret Laxson, Elmer Fite, Eleanor Simmons, Jake Harrison, associate editors; Hannah McCormick, features; Elmer Wooten, sports; Eugene Morris, assistant sports; Opal Shuman, poetry; Christine Upchurch, society; Miss Hood, sponsor; Dorothy Faye Rusk, Margaret Gamble, reporters; John Guthrie and Vincent Lockhart, reporters from ward school.

The staff was the same in the year of 1928 with the exception of Opal Shuman and Eugene Morris. Katye B. Lowe was added to the staff.

We find that in 1929 the paper was still flourishing under Keith Donnell.

Dorothy Faye Rusk was editor in chief in 1930. Alton Donnell, Katye B. Lowe, Vincent Lockhart, Louise Wester, John Guthrie, Douglas Henson, Dorothy Cash helped with the paper.

Katye B. Lowe, Vincent Lockhart and Louise Wester had charge of the paper in 1931. The same people were on the staff with the exception of Dorothy Faye Rusk and Dorothy Cash. Armor Lee Greenfield was added. Mary Ella Lowe was made grade school reporter. It was during this year that two papers were printed. Katye B. Lowe printed a separate paper called the "Purple Page." Vincent Lockhart took charge of the Eagles Tale.

In 1932, Vincent Lockhart had charge of the paper. Sarah B. Bourn, Robbie Foster, Rubye Foster and R. L. Burnam and Kathryn Robinson were added to the staff. Armor Lee Greenfield stopped her work and Rosa Cash took her place.

Louise Wester had charge of the paper in 1933. Jean Slack was made grade reporter.

Robbie Foster has charge of the paper for 1933 and 1934. Those added are: Billie Bee Flesher, Laura Ferne Brian, Mary Ella Davis, Arnetta Kirkpatrick, Ruth McCreery, Winnie Dee Hicks, Helen Hardman, Myrtle Chitwood, Armor Lee Greenfield, Mary Collins, Patricia Wederbrook, Jean Slack, Kate Donnell, Lorene Bessire, Dora MacPlaster, Mildred Shuman, and Frieda Lowrie.

Junior Class '33 Outstanding In School Activities

Have you been watching the work of the Junior class? If you have not, you should, because this class is one of the most progressive classes in school. It has for its president, Bob Orton, vice president, Mable Schmitz, and secretary and treasurer, Hampton Lisle. Many of the football boys are Juniors, and the Junior girls are showing up well in basketball practice.

The Purple Pep leaders, Mickey Schmitz and Bill Price, are both Juniors. A large percentage of the members of the pep squad are Juniors also.

The Juniors are one hundred per cent loyal to Canyon High School and the Eagles. This was shown by the fact that every Junior bought an activity ticket in the loyalty campaign.

A large part of the class progress is due to its capable sponsor, Miss Grace Clark.

Grade School Notes

Friday morning, Oct. 13, the Grade School had a joint Home Room program. The duties of county officers were discussed. This program was enjoyed immensely by the fifth, sixth, and seventh grades.

The 7A group won the loyalty banner from the Grade School. The banner is solid purple with white letters. At the top is "Seven A"; below that is "Loyalty '33." This class sold seventeen tickets to its members.

Putting Out Paper No Picnic—Says Staff Members

The reader of The Eagles Tale always just looks at the nice clean, printed articles when he or she reads the paper. But woe! The reporters of the Eagles Tale have an inside life.

These poor students write very good articles so they think. They take their articles to Miss Goodrich with bright smiles on their faces ready to receive great praise. But wait!

"That word is misspelled. Is this a feature or an editorial? This sentence construction is bad, and the full meaning of that paragraph is not plain; furthermore, do you suppose that this brings out the best side of the question? Maybe you had just better write this paragraph in a question form to set the reader to thinking."

This continues until little red marks adorn the article that some poor reporter thought was nearly perfect.

This is just the tale of a poor, worn reporter; so don't think the Eagles Tale is as easy to work on and put out as it is for you to read in a finished form.

Advertising Of Football Games Done By Studes

Advertising of the Canyon Eagle football games has been done by some very loyal boys of the Canyon High School. Several boys from the Grade School have helped Leigh Beeson, the manager and his various high school helpers. The boys on Thursday afternoon deliver circulars about the town. These boys and their circulars have done a large part of the advertising of the football games.

Stop! Look! Read!

What? A big football game. Who? Canyon Eagles vs. Happy Jacks.

Where? At the Happy football field.

When? October 20 at 3 o'clock. Who's going to be there? Everyone who wants to see a good game. Who's going to win? Eagles. How? By fighting hard and clean.

Last year, as a result of much hard work, the Canyon Eagles were able to down the determined Happy Jacks. Again this year both teams meet, Canyon to uphold her record and Happy to try to gain a much wished for victory. The result of this keen rivalry will be a good clean fought game.

Of course everyone in Canyon High School wants the Eagles to win, and the football team will promise to do their best, but without the loyal spirit of the pep squad and student body, a victory cannot be expected.

So, every citizen in Canyon, every student in high school and every teacher is urged to go to Happy Friday and support the Eagles.

Here's to the fighting Eagle eleven and their coach. Fight on to victory. Beat Happy!

Pep Squad Gives Stunt at Friona-Canyon Game

Friday afternoon at the Friona and Canyon game, the Canyon High School pep squad marched out upon the Buffalo field in time with a lively march played by the school band. The members first formed a "C" for Canyon and then an "F" for Friona. After forming each letter, they knelt down slowly to make the letters more easily read. The stunt was very pretty with the girls wearing their uniforms of purple and white.

LINE MEN NEED PRAISE ALSO

Did it ever occur to you that the backfield players are not the entire squad. To hear some of you talk, one would think that you consider the backfield and quarterback the only players; that they form the entire ball team.

Of course you realize that the backfield men are very important; on the other hand, there couldn't be a game unless the line men were present. Everyone can't be a backfield man; therefore, it is just as great an honor to be a line player as a backfield player who carries the ball.

In life, everyone can't be a backfield player. You must be right on the line, ready to go; ready to get your man in fair rivalry, and reach the heights of your ambition.

The full back and other backfield players are very outstanding, but let's not forget linemen, for in reality each group is dependent upon the other.

In other words don't praise either backfield players or line men separately, for they both form one unit. Get behind the entire team. All of it needs your support.

Miss Jordan, Mrs. J. H. Thompson, and Irene and Sarah Thompson spent the week end in Tulia.

Individual Room Given for Work on Eagles Tale

A room was given to the Press Club of Canyon High School by Superintendent I. B. Carruth. This room is to be used only for Press Club meetings and business.

A case which is in the room is going to be used by the Press Club as a file for its papers and the papers of other schools, as well as all books and miscellaneous literature which might be of help to the Eagles Tale staff.

Dyed Hair Seems the Rage

"Why the sudden rage for dyed hair?"

Red heads, pink heads, you see them everywhere; Gulf orange, carrot red, everywhere I go.

If you can tell the original color, I'd surely like to know."

Have you noticed the rage on hennaed hair? It is quite common to see someone who was formerly a blond springing out with carrot colored hair and wearing a gay pink blouse.

Then here comes a brunette whose hair looks rusty. What has she or sometimes he, done? It is not that her hair has rusted, but she has just hennaed her hair.

Just a little advice: The dye belongs on your hair and not on your temples, foreheads, behind your ears or on your neck.

Basketball Girls Show Loyalty to Training Rules

If you want to see for yourself just how loyal the basketball girls are to their training rules, get some candy and walk up to where a group of them is standing. Six times out of a half dozen the girls that play basketball will turn down your offer for a piece. If the girls play ball as hard and are as serious about it as they are when they pass the candy up, they will make a ball team that their school will be very proud of.

Boys Construct Own Co-operative Home

Building Offers Opportunity To Worthy Young Men

(By Bill Britton)

Those who charge college boys of the present day with lack of ambition and ingenuity evidently have not seen the house that twelve boys of W. T. under the direction of Prof. T. M. Moore of the agriculture department, have built on the rear of the lot occupied by Prof. Moore's residence at 2007 Sixth Avenue.

The house, which has just recently been completed, is of tile and stucco construction, contains six bedrooms, a dining-room, a kitchen, a bathroom and a large basement.

The purpose in constructing the building was to offer an opportunity for worthy young men to attend college, whereas otherwise, it might have been impossible for them to come.

There are, at present, twelve boys living in the house, filling it to capacity. All of them, except three, are freshmen. Their household duties are arranged in the following manner: one of the boys cooks for the entire group, and the others perform, in rotation order, the various other necessary tasks. Each boy pays an equal share of the living expenses, either in cash, or in the form of contributions of canned goods from home. Thus, the expenses of the individual are very moderate. The entire establishment is operated very much on the same plan used by the co-operative home for girls at Randall Hall.

This method of assisting young men not only aids them in going to school, but is also helpful and constructive, inasmuch as it teaches them how to work and live together harmoniously.

The regulations regarding admittance as a member of the household differ from those of the T. Anchor houses in that one is not required to be an agricultural major to live there. Any young man, deserving of assistance and desirous of attending college, is eligible for admittance as long as there is sufficient room in the building.

Winter Quarters

held at the camp. At the present time the three mess halls are used for entertainment when the weather is unfavorable for out-of-door performances.

Recruits are being received at the camp this week to bring the three companies up to full strength of 200 each. Most of the recruits will come from Panhandle counties. The new company will probably be a company of ex-service men transferred from their present site in Colorado or New Mexico.

Great relief was expressed by local citizens and men at the camp when the final authority came that the camps would stay during the winter. Various rumors have gone the rounds during the past two weeks that the Palo Duro project would be closed during the winter months. No specific reasons were assigned for the rumors, excepting the fact that no orders had been received that the work was to continue. Specifications on the barracks had been filed for several weeks and no action taken. It was generally believed that the condition of the highway to the camp had more to do with holding up the order to continue work than any one thing. With the approval of this highway construction last Wednesday by President Roosevelt as a relief measure, word was at once transmitted to army officers at Fort Sill and Fort Sam Houston, with the result that Major Watson received definite orders Friday to prepare the camp for winter work.

All work will be rushed as rapidly as possible in order to make the camp ready for winter living. Heavy clothing and bedding are being received, and the men will soon be equipped in the regulation winter outfits.

Work at the Palisades was ordered to be closed Friday, and the equipment moved to the Palo Duro Park for the fourth company. This order has been changed so that the men will remain until December 1st when the new company is expected to arrive. Attempts is being made on the part of Amarillo men to hold the men through the winter.

Ex-Service Men

Condron of W. T. will give us a short talk. Whatever subject he chooses, you can rest assured it will be both helpful and enjoyable. The next on the program is the novelty orchestra, composed of C. C. C. boys from Company 1824. These boys make real music from a crude set of home-made instruments. Following this number, we will present a popular entertainer in the person of Bill Smith, local manager of the West Texas Gas Company, who will tell us his experiences at "A Jewish Wedding." Next will be songs by the entire assembly, after which will be a recess of ten minutes for a get acquainted period. While we are getting acquainted the musicians from the Canyon high school will furnish us with music. Following the music will be a tap dance by Hettie Lou Bagley, Pollyanna Pitts, Melva Gamewell, and Bettye Sternberg, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Payne Rusk. You'll enjoy this dance, for these girls can dance. The last number on the program will be a novelty for all of us. A quartet of colored boys from the C. C. C. Camp will entertain with song, dance, and stunts.

Remember this rally is not for Legionnaires only, but for every ex-service man in the county. I believe you will enjoy the program. Don't disappoint us, Buddy. We are expecting you.

BILL STILLWELL DIES FROM TRUCK INJURIES

President Calls For Report Under the Terms of NRA

All business houses which signed the NRA received Saturday a request from President Roosevelt to file at once with him a report on the pay roll of the business of last week as compared with June 17. These reports will go directly to the White House where they will be tabulated by the census bureau. The results will show the number of new employees added since June 17th, and the increase or decrease of the weekly payroll of every business. The success of NRA will be somewhat shown in the tabulations. Several business executives in Canyon state that their reports show an increased number of employees as well as considerable increase in pay roll.

PARK APPROPRIATION BILL FAILS IN THE LEGISLATURE

The State Parks Board failed to receive the anticipated appropriation from the special session of the legislature which adjourned Friday night.

The Senate passed the bill for $25,000, and the House for $12,500. The free conference cut the appropriation to $10,000, this being rejected by the Senate as being insufficient. The failure of the bill leaves the Parks Board without operating funds. The Governor may be induced to issue a deficiency warrant to support this work.
